LORDSTOWN, Ohio (WKBN) - Chevy Cruze fans are in town for their 6th annual gathering.

About 50 vehicles were lined up Friday at the U-A-W 11-12 union hall in Lordstown.

Cruze enthusiasts from far and wide are in town to show off their cars.

They also got a chance to tour the plant.

"I really like to see what everyone does to their particular cars, and what all the options are, and I am not much of a mechanical person I am more of an electronics person, but just to be able to see what can be done is pretty cool," said Brian Lisle of Hays, North Carolina.

The car owners are members of CruzeTalk.com.

It's an online community where they can talk and share ideas throughout the year.
